

Irish Examiner

Celebrating women

The Institute of Advertising Practitioners held its annual IAPI Doyenne Award breakfast on International Women's Day to mark future female leaders in the industry. Pictured are Sharon Murray, Meabh Connellon, Michelle O'Keefe, the winner of the IAPI Doyenne Award, Cera Ward, and Astrid Brennan.
Picture: Conor Healy

Irish Girl Guides Lauren Manning, Aisling O'Boyle, and Aoife Leamy with former Irish Girl Guides chief commissioner, senator Jillian van Turnhout, outside Leinster House presenting footsteps to TDs urging them to step up action on gender equality.

Ursula Kilkelly, UCC, Irene Lynch Fannon, UCC, Anita Maguire, UCC, and Gillian Keating, RDJ, pictured at a UCC breakfast networking event held on International Women's Day at the River Lee Hotel. It also marked the publication of an Irish Research Council-funded report on women on boards of for-profit and not-for-profit organisations.
Picture: Gerard McCarthy

Prof Tara Moore, director of the Biomedical Sciences Research Institute at the University of Ulster, presenter Baz Ashmawy, and UTV Ireland's Alison Comyn, chair of the Gender Equality and Diversity conference at the University of Limerick.
Picture: Sean Curtin

PwC's Nicola Quinn at the Maryborough Hotel with some of Cork's All-Ireland-winning camogie and football stars, Anna Geary, Brieger Corkery, Juliet Murphy, and Valerie Mulcahy. PwC and the Women's Gaelic Players Association hosted a celebration of successful women, exploring the challenges, influences, and skills which have shaped their careers and lives.
Picture: Gerard McCarthy